Giara is more than just a collection of handles: it is the outcome of in depth research and profound respect for the age old tradition of bronze making, which comes to life in each piece. The true beauty of bronze comes from the feeling that it conveys a sense of eternity. Giara exemplifies the tradition of bronze and its rustic nature while also embracing contemporary design with bronze tones, material, and durability.

A range of handles with a focus on form and beauty. Modeling is an essential part of creativity in a number of classical and contemporary architectural contexts, as well as interior design, in the most authentic “Made in Italy” tradition.

The Kleis collection reaffirms its original mission: a center of excellence for ideas and actions, an ideal laboratory where design and project development convey the same values as the product.
